Los Angeles, Calif. (PRWeb) March 17, 2008 -- Sixty four teams, 19 days, sixty five plus hours of basketball madness. While only a select few will sit courtside at this year's college basketball tournament, there is an easy and economical solution for basketball fans everywhere to experience every dunk, steal and buzzer beater in life-size glory.

Basketball fans can create larger-than-life tournament viewing parties right in their own home by renting a high-quality LCD projector from projector123.com (www.projector123.com), simply hooking it up to their cable or satellite TV box and projecting anything from a first-round upset to the champions cutting down the nets in HDTV quality at 1080i resolution right onto their living room wall, a screen or even the side of their house or garage. No more crowding around a TV to determine if that that elbow was thrown, that shot was a three or to just revel in the highlights of their team's huge win. There won't be a bad seat in the house, and everyone will feel like there are a part of the action.

"With heart-stopping action, unbelievable upsets and heroic last-second shots, the college basketball tournament is one of the most exciting sporting events of the year, and it's even better when viewed on a big screen in HDTV quality," says Projector123.com President Cuyler Tremayne. "Projector123.com makes it easy to host a viewing party for 10 diehard fans or 100 of your neighbors by renting high-quality LCD projectors at a great price that arrive at their door and are easy-to-use."

Bracketologists looking for the best quality projector at the best possible price can log onto ordering as easy as 1-2-3 through the user-friendly interface.
